

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents conclusion and suggestion concerning the result of the research. The conclusion is taken based on the researcher findings and the discussion that have been explained in chapter III. Following are the conclusion and the suggestion from the researcher.

A. Conclusion

Based on the analysis and discussion described above, the researcher concluded that responding to statements on this issue "how is the influence the STAD (student team achievement division) method on vocabulary skills." The Researcher obtained the results of studies that used observations for 2 times and the results of interviews with teacher and students. The researcher conclude that the STAD method (student team achievement division) was very influential in vocabulary skills and it proven that students could follow observations well, and could follow the researcher ' instructions. The result of interview of teacher and students who concluded that they gave a positive response, in which they enjoyed the method. And stated that it really help them to add some vocabulary, in the end when applying this STAD method, the researcher get good results where students get vocabulary changes and can support the process of learning English

B. Suggestions

This advice is shown to the next researcher in order to be able to study more thoroughly, so that things that have not been answered in previous research can be more perfect / maximize in general.